NEW COMMUNITY
CORPORATION

Economic Development

973-623-2800

Inspired to promote economic self-sufficiency for the community, NCC understood that community development could be a powerful economic engine to improve quality of life. Whether it's our job training programs or our bustling retail shopping center, NCC's comprehensive facilities and programs have made the organization a global model for social enterprise and community development.

New Community is still attracting visitors from throughout the world who come to tour our facilities and receive advice on how they can replicate our success in neighborhoods in their own communities.

Chelsea Construction Management

Chelsea Construction is an NCC subsidiary that manages New Community construction projects. Chelsea has more than 20 years of construction management experience. Chelsea has served as the general manager during the construction phase of more than six NCC housing developments, including high rise apartment buildings for seniors, family townhouses and single family homes. As the properties age, Chelsea is involved in the refinancing and renovation of these properties to give them new life as affordable housing.

Real Estate Development

973 639-7823

The NCC Department of Real Estate Development is driven by a desire to improve quality of life by creating affordable housing that rebuilds communities and re-creates stable neighborhoods. The department enhances neighborhoods by emphasizing a holistic approach to development that never loses focus of a community's needs or vision.

The Department of Real Estate Development has been active from the beginning of NCC and has a staff well-versed in the development process, including both the financing and construction of facilities that create strength for communities.

Many energy-saving measures are being instituted at New Community's residential properties. The improvements include the installation of high efficiency boilers, hot water heaters, boiler controls, ventilation systems, variable speed pumps, insulation and weather stripping. These improvements will save thousands, lower our carbon footprint and ensure residents comfort for years to come. Funding is provided by federal, state and PSE&G grants and loans.

New Community Corporation

to create a safety net for those families and individuals who exhausted their five-year time limit on welfare and do not meet the criteria for an exemption to the time limit. The SAIF program couples intensive case management with a continuation of the service package available to WorkFirst NJ recipients. This means that if the client continues to work or participate in a work activity, he or she may receive up to 24 months of cash benefits, plus services such as child care and transportation. If needed, other services such as mental health and substance abuse treatment may also be available. A case manager will keep in close contact with the client – through phone calls, visits to the office and even visits to the client’s worksite or home --to ensure that progress continues.

Intensive case management is a major part of the SAIF program. Associates meet regularly with their case managers to receive encouragement and other types of support.
